Ince is an integrated communications agency providing clients with a full service offering for all their marketing and communication needs. We partner with our clients around their communication and marketing needs to provide the most appropriate solution - delivering the right message, through the right medium, with the right results! A proudly South African company, Ince was founded in the 1920s as a family-run print shop for Rand pioneers. Today, through innovative exploration and bold diversification, we are a leading provider of communication solutions across various mediums to clients throughout South Africa and beyond. Our national teams of skilled and passionate individuals are based in Gauteng, KwaZulu-Natal and the Western Cape. Their number includes strategists, creatives, marketers, IT experts, artisans, financial gurus and a host of other professionals
