BackgroundMad Mac's was started by Nick McFall, a passionate motorcycling enthusiast for the last 33 years. Nick has owned many bikes since the 1970's, including a GT 380, GT 550 and GT 750, all icons of a bygone era. Nick has had a taste for just about every make on the market, from vintage to classic, superbikes and adventure bikes. Nick is a very keen classic and vintage bike collector as well as having a passion for aviation, often flying his 1934 open cockpit mono plane. Nick has lived in the Helderberg basin for over 30 years and has enjoyed many business ventures along the way, this leading to a good network of relationships in the social and business community. Some of his closest friends are also involved in track racing at Killarney which he supports from time to time. Nick currently owns four successful businesses in varied industries and is a graduate engineer.
