Nibbly Bits was founded by Peter Haasbroek in 1996, after taking early retirement from Sasko, when he saw the opportunity to launch a range of handmade premium rusks for Woolworths. The company has steadily grown and today employs over 500 people, producing a range of handcrafted rusks, biscuits, cookies & snacks. The factory is located in Wellington, South Africa, in the heart of the Cape Winelands.Today Peter is retired, but still sits on the board. All three his sons, Andre, David & Paul are very involved in the company under the leadership of Andre the CEO.
